

Consensus Instructions

Setup: Each player needs a piece of paper and a writing instrument (not provided). Decide how many rounds to play. We suggest two cards, or eight rounds. Shuffle the cards, and take two from the top. One person acts as host throughout the game and reads the topics from cards to everyone else.

Play: Host reads the topic and all players, without any discussion, write down their Top 3 for that category. After all players have finished, take turns reading the lists. If someone else has one of your answers, then you have achieved Consensus and score one point.

Scoring: The most you can score each round is 3 points (one for each of your answers). Write your score next to your answers and keep playing. The most points after 8 rounds is the winner. In the case of a tie, keep playing until someone wins.
